PREFACE

This edition of the Monumental Inscriptions of Deane Church has been transcribed from an earlier version produced by the Bolton & District Family History Society in April 1983.

It was typewritten and therefore of limited circulation. It was thought that Deane Church did not hold a copy in its archives and therefore the only way to retrieve the inscriptions was to re-run the project. Fortunately a copy was discovered in Bolton Museum archives and photographed. Optical Character Recognition (OCR) software was used but due to the limited facilities available, much of this material was not suitable for the process.

As this is such a valuable source of information, the decision was taken to manually enter the text. This process was a labour of love which covered many months.

To ensure this does not need to be repeated, digital copies are to be deposited with Bolton Museum, Manchester Library, Bolton and District Family History Society and available from the website www.deanechurch.co.uk

FOREWORD

The ancient church of St Mary the Virgin, Deane, Bolton, Lancashire has perhaps the most interesting history of any in these parts. It is for this reason that the Bolton and History Society decided to list the monumental inscriptions of the older parts of the churchyard and also in the interior of the church.

It dates from at least Norman times and probably earlier. The earliest written reference appears in a charter circa 1205 naming "Robert the Chaplain of St Marie Dene". It was then a chapel in the large parish of Eccles and did not become a parish in its own right until granted a charter by Henry VIII in 1542

*Note:- The four names marked should be taken as being very dubious. The only reference to be found is in Whittles History of Bolton (1855), an author well known for his flights of fancy.

The first mention of a graveyard was in a document of 1276 it was not until 1813 that an extension of the old burial ground was carried out on the southern side. Further extensions on the north side were made in 1857, 1876, 1896, 1921 and 1928. Parts of the old Vicarage garden were consecrated in 1940 and 1956.

Although many of the oldest gravestones have simply initials and family names, the oldest legible dated stone appears to be of 1608 to the west of the main path. Many quaint and interesting epitaphs are to be found and for those Latin we have attempted a translation.

Where broken or partly illegible stones are found, it may be useful to consult the three volumes of Deane Parish Registers printed by the Lancashire Parish Register Society. These volumes can be consulted in Bolton Reference Library and are numbered 53, 54 and 79 covering the period 1604 to 1812. In addition there are hand-written transcripts from 1604 to 1886.

How to use the transcripts -

1. The inscriptions have been listed in alphabetical order of the first surname mentioned on the gravestone.

NOTE On the old stones with three initials only, the centre one is the surname with the man and wife's initial to left and right respectively.

2. Where more than one such surname exists, the first Christian names are alphabetically listed; then in date order.
3. Each inscription is given a number so that other surnames on the same stone can be found in a supplementary index.
4. To enable the researcher to find the grave in the churchyard, each entry gives a section number 1 to 5. These sections are shown on a plan of the churchyard. Also the type of stone is indicated: 'F' (flatstone), 'H' (headstone), etc.
5. A separate list of plaques, tablets, stained glass window memorials, etc., inside the church has also been appended.

Finally, thanks must be given for the facilities given by the Rector of Deane, the Rev. R.B. Jackson, and to all the members of the Society who worked so tirelessly on this project.

BERNARD eldest Son of ROGER and MARY HOLLAND Na: May29th 1790 ob: Aug. 12th 1790. MARY CATHERINE daughter of ROGER and MARY HOLLAND and wife of GEORGE LOMAS of Farnworth Na: July 21st 1791, Ob: April 10th 1823.

Could gentle manners could a liberal mind, Could worth could talents or a taste refin'd, could those affections which at once extend, as daughter, mother, sister, wife and friend, could all united their possession save, we had not wept o'er Mary's early grave. These gifts, these graces for a moment giv'n, illum'd her steps and cheer'd her path to heav'n, but her high hope aspir'd in things above, her faith was fixed on a redeemer's love, and ere the spirit rose its God to meet, her all was bow'd before a saviour's feet.

Sacred to the memory of ROGER HOLLAND Esqr. of Birch House in this county, youngest son of BERNARD and CATHARINE HOLLAND late of the Rea House in the county of Salop who departed this life the 17th day of June 1828 aged 74 years. Here the honoured head is laid, death thy mortal debt is paid, thou hast seized the orphans stay, snatched the widows hope away, couldst thou not yet longer spare, subject me of many a prayer, tenderest husband, friend and sire, must he at thy touch expire. Could not lib'ral dead reprove, could not his meek spirit move, might not high integrity, hope to have prevailed with thee. No - thou call'dst the sufferer friend. Bade his works of mercey end, chilled that heart that ever beat, love and kindness to repeat, then we saw his cheek grow pale, watched his strength and being fail, but his faith was fixed above. Firm upon the saviours love, grave thy victory is o'er, thou canst triumph here no more.

MARY relict of ROGER HOLLAND Esq. and daughter of the late EDWARD and MARY HOLME of Silkmoor House in the county of Stafford who departed this life the 3rd day of Novr. 1836 aged 66 years. Thy truth thy zeal thy works were seen above, thy steadfast faith in a redeemers love, and he who shielded thee in deaths dark strife, call'd thee his ransomed one to endless life.

ROGER son of ROGER and MARY HOLLAND Na: April 9th 1793, Ob: Feby. 3rd 1832. Now may faith triumph for to human eye, all is despondence, darkness, mystery - the widowed mother mourns an only son, can mortal lip pronounce "Thy will be done?" Can human heart in humble reverence bow, nor dare to question Lord "What doest thou?" No mortal no, such power is not thine own, but to the Christian, strength devine is known: the Christian conquers, e'en in mortal strife, through him, "The resurrection and the life" 'tis he who calls our treasures out of time, 'tis he who hails them in heav'ns blissful clime, he who can words of holiest comfort speak, and bind the heart he sees it good to break, saviour 'tis right - terrestrial ties are riven, but cords celestial draw us nearer heaven.

Presented to JOSEPH MARKLAND, Engine Driver for daring conduct in risking his life to save the company's property at Blackburn from destruction by fire on the 21st December 1855.

(See Newspaper article from the Blackburn Standard dated Saturday, April 23rd, 1881.)

THE LATE MR. JOSEPH MARKLAND, LOCOMOTIVE FOREMAN, LANCASHIRE AND YORKSHIRE RAILWAY, BLACKBURN.—About twelve months ago a movement was set on foot by the locomotive employes at Blackburn to present their foreman with a testimonial of their esteem and respect for his person and character, Mr. Markland having been in charge of the Blackburn engine shed for a period of 30 years. Shortly afterwards Mr. Markland was seized with the illness which ultimately proved fatal. It was then determined by the subscribers that the sums received should be expended in providing a suitable monument to his memory at Dean Church, where he was interred, and a substantial grey granite obelisk monument has been erected over his grave bearing the following inscription:—"In remembrance of Joseph Markland, locomotive foreman, Blackburn, who died August 1st, 1880, aged 73 years, for many years a faithful servant of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Company and esteemed by all who knew him. Erected to his memory by his fellow servants and friends, January 1881."—On the south side of the monument is placed, in accordance with the expressed wish of the deceased, a copy of the inscription on a silver medal presented to him by the directors of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Company. This inscription reads as follows: "Presented to Joseph Markland, engine driver, for daring conduct in risking his life to save the company's property at Blackburn from destruction by fire on the 21st of December, 1855."—A considerable balance being left after the monument was provided, it was determined by the committee to present to Mrs. Markland a memorial timepiece and ornaments in affectionate remembrance of her late husband, and on Saturday last, the 16th inst., a deputation consisting of the following officers and servants, viz.: Messrs. MacKay and Smith, Manchester; Mr. Tonge, Bolton; Mr. Dawson, Preston; Mr. J. H. Grafton, Blackburn, and Messrs. Yates, Whalley, and Smith, enginemen, Blackburn; waited upon Mrs. Markland at her residence Cheltenham-street, Blackburn, and made the presentation, which consisted of a very handsome black marble timepiece with bronze side ornaments; the timepiece bearing the following inscription on a silver plate:—"Presented to Mrs. Markland in affectionate remembrance of her late husband, Joseph Markland, March, 1881."—The proceedings on Saturday were opened by Mr. Smith who described the origin of the memorial, speaking in feeling terms of the great esteem in which Mr. Markland was held by all who knew him. He then called upon Mr. MacKay to make the presentation to Mrs. Markland which he did in a few well-chosen and appropriate words. Mrs. Markland, her son, Mr. Thomas Markland, and her son-in-law, Mr. Aspinall, each expressed their sincere thanks for the kind and thoughtful manner in which the objects of the fund had been carried out and the considerate taste displayed in the selection of the memorials and the composition of the inscriptions thereon. Mr. Wm. Whalley then expressed the thanks of the men stationed at Blackburn to the committee for the very satisfactory manner in which they had performed their duties, and this closed the proceedings.

On North Wall

“In memory of DORNING RASBOTHAM, Esq., of Birch House in this parish, to which place he retired from Manchester, his native town, in the year 1762, that he might there possess the ease and independence of a private gentleman.

This situation he was well prepared to enjoy, by great ardour in literary studies; to adorn, by engaging manners, which secured the affectionate attachment of a large circle of respectable friends; and to render singularly useful to the public, by a most active and able discharge of the duties of a Justice of the Peace.

In this office, and in the highest functions of it, as chairman of the Quarter Sessions, where he presided, he acquired in a very eminent degree the high esteem of the gentlemen at the bar, the cordial regard of his fellow magistrates, and the grateful confidence of the public at large, supporting, with a consistency never impeached and never suspected, the characters of the poor man’s friend, and of the firm asserter of order, law and justice.

In these important services he persevered until his death, with the exception of one year, during which he served the office of High Sheriff for the County of Lancaster.

He died November 7th, 1791, aged 61 years.

Here also lie the remains of SARAH, his wife, oldest daughter of JAMES BAYLEY, Esq., of Manchester, who died April 30th 1805 aged 77 years. Their surviving children have erected this monument in memory of parents so revered and so dear.

NOTE: DORNING RASBOTHAM's wife was a granddaughter of SAMUEL PEPLUE, Bishop of Chester; and by her he had two sons and three daughters. One of the latter, FRANCES, was married to WILLIAM third son of JOHN GRAY, of Finedon, in Northumberland.
